N.M.Y.E PRIZE-WINNING WORKS TO BE PRESENTED AT TANGLEWOOD

Two compositions which have received awards in the New Music for Young Ensembles Composition Competition during the last eight years will be heard in a chamber music concert of the Boston University Tanglewood Institute's Young Artists Instrumental program in conjunction with The Berkshire Music Center on Saturday, August 6, 1983, at 2:30 pm.

The two works, which originally received their world premieres in the New York concert series presented by N.M.Y.E. are: Larry McFatter's SCHERZO FOR VIOLIN, CELLO AND PIANO (first prize, 1981) and David Snow's A BAKER'S TALE for narrator, violin, clarinet, trumpet, bassoon and piano (honorable mention, 1981).

The concert is being prepared under the musical direction of Boston University Tanglewood Institute's Director of Chamber Music, Robert Ripley, who is a member of the Boston Symphony Orchestra's cello section, and Scott Schillin, Executive Director of Boston University Tanglewood Institute.

N.M.Y.E. is pleased to join with the Boston University Tanglewood Institute in presentation of these works to further its goals of fostering a repertoire of intermediate level chamber music and increasing the audience for this music through multiple performances of the best examples of the repertoire.
