Program note for Total Harmonic Distortion:

The recorded sound accompaniment to Total Harmonic Distortion was generated by additive synthesis software recently devised by the composer for the 1990s-era Atari Falcon030 computer, which just goes to show that you can teach old hardware new tricks.

Biographical note:

The compositions of David Jason Snow have been performed in concert by the Ensemble Intercontemporain, the American Brass Quintet, the New Juilliard Ensemble, the Harvard Wind Ensemble, et al. Snow is the recipient of composition awards from the National Endowment for the Arts, the ASCAP Foundation, BMI, and Keyboard magazine.

Dear Jason,

Thank you for submitting your work to the Composer's Voice concert series call for score:

Fifteen-Minutes-of-Fame: Daniel Mihai, violin & tape for the Composer's Voice concert series.

Your piece was not chosen as one of the fifteen. However, Daniel Mihai very much enjoyed your piece and will be premiering it as an encore on this Sunday's concert in Bucharest.

Congratulations!

We received submissions from around the globe! We were amazed by the quality of the submissions and the decision making process was a difficult one.

It is imperative that we keep the Composer's Voice concert series alive by constantly growing our audience. Therefore, it is absolutely essential that either you attend the concert or help in generating that audience. For those of you who live outside of Romania, we understand how difficult it might be to attend a Bucharest debut; however, please contact everybody and anybody that you know in the area and persuade them to attend.

You can also help by broadcasting the event on the internet: social networks, blogs, composer organizations, etc. Through the list, we announce press-release-like announcements that can be used to advertise the performance. If you need details beforehand please contact us and we will be happy to provide them for you.

The premiere of Fifteen-Minutes-of-Fame: Daniel Mihai, violin & tape is 1:45PM, Sunday, September 15, 2013 at the Sala "Mihai Joraa Societății Române de Radiodifuziune, Bucharest, Romania.

Please continue to submit your works; we look forward to receiving them.

Sincerely,

Robert Voisey – Director: Vox Novus
